LSU CURRICULUM CAMP  LSU Curriculum Camp is designed to showcase the work of graduate students engaged in research on a host of subjects, such as: curriculum theory, gender, race, culture, higher education research, policy analysis, political and/or intellectual thought (including but not limited to postmodernism, feminism, poststructuralism, posthumanism, new materialism, queer theory, chaos & complexity theory).

TO SUBMIT A PROPOSAL: Please submit your proposal no later than Dec.10th through our online submission portal https://goo.gl/zNxFtK. Submissions are accepted from Graduate Students only. All accepted proposal presenters will be expected to register for the conference ($45) no later than February 17, 2018. For further questions or special requests, please email us at ctgsc.lsu@gmail.com.

DR. NINA ASHER
University of Minnesota-Twin Cities
Nina Asher holds an Ed.D. in Curriculum and Teaching from Teachers College at Columbia University, where she also obtained a Master of Education in Curriculum and Teaching. Her background also includes a Master of Arts in Social Work (Family and Child Welfare), from Tata Institute of Social Sciences in Bombay, India.

Dr. Asher’s major research interests include postcolonial and feminist theory, globalization, critical perspectives on multiculturalism, and Asian American Studies in relation to education. This interest led her to Louisiana State University – where she taught from 1999-2011 and served as Coordinator of the Holmes Elementary Education Program (2007-2011) and Co-Director of the Curriculum Theory Project (2007-2010). She was named the J. Franklin Bayhi Endowed Professor of Education in 2007 and awarded the College of Education Advocate for Diversity Award in 2011.

Dr. Asher received a 2014-15 Fulbright-Nehru Academic and Professional Excellence Award (Research) from the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board, Council for International Exchange of Scholars, Washington, D.C. for her research project, Examining the Intersections of Globalization, Privatization, and Education after two decades of Economic Liberalization in India. She currently serves as professor and Chair of the Department of Curriculum and Instruction at the University of Minnesota - Twin Cities. The courses she has developed and taught include “Postcolonialism and Feminism in Education,” “Globalization, Multiculturalism, and Education,” and “Gender, Race, and Nation.”

CURRICULUM CAMP IS SPONSORED BY:
LSU SCHOOL OF EDUCATION
LSU CURRICULUM THEORY PROJECT